FOREWORD

This collection of "Data on Average Weekly and Average Hourly Earnings in Selected Manufacturing Industries By States--1933-1935" was prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics on request of the Division of Review.

It did not prove feasible to have the data available in time for the development of textual material based on these data. The data are accordingly mimeographed in order that they may be available to students in the field.

At the back of this report a brief statement of the studies undertaken by the Division of Review will be found.

I. INTRODUCTORY MEMORANDUM

Purpose. It is a matter of common knowledge that manufacturing industries in this country operate under conditions reflecting significant regional differences in the type of product made, market served and labor employed. In some instances the regional differences within an industry are so marked that it may be more accurate to speak of several industries rather than one; the outstanding example is the lumber industry in the South and the Pacific States. In other instances regional differences are less important than those between urban and rural localities, large and small plants, etc. In studying the effects of the NRA upon weekly hours and hourly earnings it appeared desirable, therefore, to go behind the national averages.

Industries and States. The industries used in this study were selected on the basis of three criteria: (1) size as measured by the number of wage earners employed (2) probable susceptibility to the influence of the NRA (3) magnitude of sample in monthly employment and payroll reports to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. For each of these industries the averages were computed for the larger States. A list of industries and States studied is given below.

Period Covered. In order to ascertain the effects of the NRA experiment it was necessary to cover a period longer than from July 17, 1933, to May 27, 1935, measuring the actual life of NRA codes. The period covered extended from April, 1933, to August, 1935.

It was impracticable, however, to carry the calculations through for each month within that period. To reduce the amount of labor involved averages were computed for only a half or less of the months for most of the industries, In 1933, 1934 and the early part of 1935, the months were selected on the basis of the movement of the national averages with the aim of throwing light at the turning points; that is, averages were obtained only for those months which mark a culmination of an upward movement or a cessation of a downward movement.

Explanation of the Tables. The tables consist of three sections: the first indicating the size of the sample, the second presenting the averages for weekly hours and the third presenting the averages for hourly earnings. The first column in the second and third sections shows the average of weekly hours or hourly earnings in the establishments which reported for the given month as well as for the preceding month listed in the table. The next column in both sections shows the percentage difference between this average and the average in the same establishments for the preceding month listed in the table. Since the latter average is not shown in the table, the second column is independent of the first; indeed, the averages shown in the first column are not comparable from month to month.

The third column when given in the second and third sections presents the results of an estimate based on applying the percent changes shown in the second column to the averages actually reported for the last three months (June, July and August, 1935). The reason for taking the last three months as a base is that the reporting sample tends to be largest then; while the percentage changes shown in the second column had been obtained from a sample somewhat different from that reporting in the last three months, it is believed that the changes they measure are fairly representative of the entire industry in the State.

It will be observed that the validity of the assumptions underlying the third column ("estimated hours" and "estimated earnings") is easier to defend if the reporting sample is large throughout the period than if it is small in the early months and large at the end. Moreover, the purposes of the study are sufficiently served by the second and first columns of the last two sections. Therefore the third column is not shown in cases where the discrepancy between the estimated and the reported averages is large.

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL RECOVERY ADMINISTRATION
THE DIVISION OF REVIEW

THE WORK OF THE DIVISION OF REVIEW

Executive Order No. 7075, dated June 15, 1935, established the Division of Review of the National Recovery Administration. The pertinent part of the Executive Order reads thus:

> The Division of Review shall assemble, analyze, and report upon the statistical information and records of experience of the operations of the various trades and industries heretofore subject to codes of fair competition, shall study the effects of such codes upon trade, industrial and labor conditions in general, and other related matters, shall make available for the protection and promotion of the public interest an adequate review of the effects of the Administration of Title I of the National Industrial Recovery Act, and the principles and policies put into effect thereunder, and shall otherwise aid the President in carrying out his functions under the said Title.

The study sections set up in the Division of Review covered these areas: industry studies, foreign trade studies, labor studies, trade practice studies, statistical studies, legal studies, administration studies, miscellaneous studies, and the writing of code histories. The materials which were produced by these sections are indicated below.

Except for the Code Histories, all items mentioned below are scheduled to be in mimeographed form by April 1, 1936.

THE CODE HISTORIES

The Code Histories are documented accounts of the formation and administration of the codes. They contain the definition of the industry and the principal products thereof; the classes of members in the industry; the history of code formation including an account of the sponsoring organizations, the conferences, negotiations and hearings which were held, and the activities in connection with obtaining approval of the code; the history of the administration of the code, covering the organization and operation of the code authority, the difficulties encountered in administration, the extent of compliance or non-compliance, and the general success or lack of success of the code; and an analysis of the operation of code provisions dealing with wages, hours, trade practices, and other provisions. These and other matters are canvassed not only in terms of the materials to be found in the files, but also in terms of the experiences of the deputies and others concerned with code formation and administration.

The Code Histories, (including histories of certain NRA units or agencies) are not mimeographed. They are to be turned over to the Department of Commerce in typewritten form. All told, approximately eight hundred and fifty (850) histories will be completed. This number includes all of the approved codes and some of the unapproved codes. (In Work Materials No. 18, Contents of Code Histories, will be found the outline which governed the preparation of Code Histories.)

(In the case of all approved codes and also in the case of some codes not carried to final approval, there are in NRA files further materials on industries. Particularly worthy of mention are the Volumes I, II and III which constitute the material officially submitted to the President in support of the recommendation for approval of each code.
